Duo Bed – Design by Peter Maly

Here comes a bed where really everything is soft. Which is not only an advantage when the light's off and the risk of bumping into things is high. In daylight duo's appeal lies in the fact that all elements – right down to the mattress – can be covered in the same fabric. Of particular interest: duo doesn't have a frame in the true sense, but upholstery underneath with special springs. Not to forget that all covers can be removed and cleaned.
